VOL. II. RALEIGH, N. C., MONDAY, MAY 27, 1867. NO. 246.

THE SENTINEL.

WM. E. PELL, Proprietor.

A SHARP REBUKE TO SENATOR WILSON.

At Montgomery, Ala., Senator Wilson invited a reply, and got the following from Gen. Clanton, who spoke from the same stand and to the same audience:

"The gentleman from Massachusetts says you ought to identify yourselves with the radical party at the North, because they have waded through a bloody war of four years to set you free, to give you the right to sit upon the juries, ride on railroads, testify as witnesses in courts, and much else. I deny every assertion he has made on these points, and challenge him to the proof. He who says that this war was commenced by the North to set you free and confer on you the rights you now enjoy, falsifies the history of the country; not intentionally, I hope. The government, during the late war, again and again declared most solemnly that this war was not commenced or being waged for conquest, or with a view of interfering with our property in slaves in the States. Mr. Lincoln urged us to return to the Union, pledging the government to receive us most cordially and give slavery its protection in the States. We were threatened with emancipation if we did not come back. In one hand the Government offered us "Union and Slavery"—and in the other was "Rebellion and Emancipation."—Having gone to war on principle, the South chose the latter. No man knows this better than the honorable Senator. Nor will he or Gen. Swayne, who is on the stand, deny the assertion that I am now going to make, that we could have gone back in the Union and held you as our slaves to-day.—You are not indebted to the North or the South for your freedom, but to God. Instead of abusing us, you ought to remember that this rebellion which you are taught to despise, by your enemies and ours, who only come amongst you for your votes, was an instrument in the hands of God for your deliverance, so far as mortal eye can divine the purposes of the Creator.

The Southern people do not envy you your freedom. They would not restore you to bondage if they could. They have your well being at heart. I did not fire a gun for slavery. More than half the Southern army never owned a slave. Hardee, Cleburne, and many others, signed a petition long before the war closed, for your freedom, and to afford you an opportunity to volunteer and assist your white friends of the South in achieving Southern independence.

President Davis recommended this course, and I, in the theatre, in this city, endorsed his policy in the presence of a very large assembly, and stated that I would take pleasure in commanding colored troops.—You acted your part during that unfortunate struggle, for which you deserve, and have, the gratitude of every Southern man and woman in our midst.

The gentleman says the Mexican war was brought on and advocated by Mr. Calhoun, for the purpose of increasing the area of slavery. No man ought to know better than the honored representative of Massachusetts that the statement is untrue. Mr. Calhoun, and also Mr. Clay, the great Southern giants alive at the time, opposed the war. Mr. Calhoun was to the last the bitterest opponent of the war—predicting as he did the disastrous results upon the peace of the country. Instead of that war being waged for slavery, it was very evident, as the result proved, that any territory adjoining us which could be acquired, would be free territory. That war gave to the North, California, Utah and New Mexico. Though only a boy, I followed the old flag through that war, with many thousand good and true men from my section, who only regarded the National honor of our common country. Again as to how you became free:—The North aided to free you with bayonet and by military proclamations only as they believed it would injure us and raise up a hostile element in our midst, and seemingly making your welfare a secondary consideration. To render this act of theirs valid and constitutional, it was necessary that we should act. We called together our conventions and without hesitation made you constitutionally free forever. We also gave you the right to testify in cases where you are interested, and I advocated, in this State House, your right to testify in all cases.

His party is in power, and he is here aiding to keep them so. He is here to form a political alliance with you and what few whites can be induced to join him. They want office, they want spoils, and they want to retain power. It is quite pleasant and profitable to them. It is not because they love you better than other people. I warn you against him, and all like him, at home or from abroad.

What claim have the men in our own midst to your confidence, who profess to be radicals and advise you to join that party? I see several of them before me now on the stand. Mr. E. H. Metcalf is one, who, within a few days past, has written a letter saying, amongst other things, that the Southern men opposed to the organization to which he belongs have been legislating since the war to over-tax the poor and deprive the negro of his wages. He ought to have known that these statements were untrue.—He has lived here many years. His brave sons were in the army, and I never heard of his paying any negroes their wages until they were made free. I have been informed, and believe, that Mr. Metcalf, who is a good man and citizen, did not write the letter referred to.

A second is Judge Felder, my old friend; what is his record? He, before this war, as Senator from Montgomery county, if I am not mistaken, voted for a law to enslave every free negro in this State who did not leave by a certain time, and to prevent any more being made free. Under this law, Jack Abercombie, his mother and sister, went into slavery. I tried to save them from the operation of the law, but failed.

He now claims to be your champion here, and invites you to join his party.

The honorable Senator in his last speech says I spoke of many small things which occurred here which he never before heard of. They may be picayune to him way up in Massachusetts but deeply concern us here. He may consider the course of our local Republican leaders here, the gentlemen referred to, as unimportant, and it may be and doubtless is true that he never heard of them or their political record before. But I hope, Senator, you will be patient, and wait on those gentlemen. They are young Republicans; like young birds just beginning to feather, they have the will, and will fly after a while, and you will hear them.—For

"When young converts first begin to sing
Their happy soul is on the wing."

There is still another class that for your own sake and humanity's sake, I wish most especially to warn you against. I mean those mean wretches, who, without employment or character at home, come into our midst and endeavor stealthily and often at the hour of midnight to poison your minds and embitter your hearts against the white race—your neighbors. Any man, white or black, who does this to procure office or through any other motive, is a fiend in human shape, and deserves the execration of mankind. If this is persisted in, what will be the result? "A conflict of races, of course." From which God deliver us. See the riot which occurred in New Orleans—white men got it up, and when the danger became imminent many of them fled, only a few of their number killed, but some fifty or sixty unsuspecting freedmen were reported killed.

A man mean enough to bring about and encourage such a state of affairs as a conflict of races in our streets, when the hour of danger arrives, could not be overtaken by the fastest car in our city.

It occurs to me just at this moment that there is another portion of the honorable Senator's last, or second speech, to which I will briefly allude. He says I have mentioned some things he never before heard.—In that he has none of the advantage of me, for he has spoken of many things that he did that I have not heard of before. He boasts of what the Northern army did, but I did not know that he was with them. It is only very recently that he invaded the South. He reminds me of the bold frontiersman, who, when the bear entered the cabin door, quite unexpectedly, ran up into the loft. The good wife having no means of escape, used the pitchfork very freely, killing the bear; the husband in the loft crying out all the while, at the top of his voice, "Lay on, Nancy! Lay on, Nancy!" When assured that the bear was quite dead, he descended from his safe retreat, walked up to the side of his wife, and with the, air of a game cock, exclaimed: "Nancy, ain't we brave." The gentlemen can afford to boast now of what we did.

FOR RENT.

FIRST CLASS PROPERTY FOR RENT.

THAT LARGE, COMMODIOUS, AND WELL known Hotel,

"THE METROPOLITAN"

situated in the center of the business portion of Greensboro, N. C., is offered for rent or lease.

Its advantages are many; the outhouses and improvements are in fine condition, and of modern construction. Greensboro is a point at which a well conducted Hotel cannot fail to pay an active manager very handsomely; being at the terminus of the Richmond, Danville and Piedmont Rail Road, about the middle of the N. C. Central Rail Road, in the very centre of the Mining District of N. C.; at a point always remarkable for its flourishing schools and female colleges, and well known as a summer resort, on account of its healthy atmosphere.

The proprietors would prefer renting to some party, who have had experience in conducting a first-class hotel, and to such the terms would be most liberal; at any rate they desire an active and energetic man. The Metropolitan Property being the only Hotel in the central part of town, makes it most desirable, and a competent manager would enjoy a monopoly.

She brings together those long separated, gives information concerning absent friends or lovers, restores lost or stolen property, tells you the business you are best qualified to pursue and in what you will be most successful causes speedy marriages and tells you the very day you will marry, gives you the name, likeness and characteristics of the person. She reads your very thoughts, and by her almost supernatural powers unveils the dark and hidden mysteries of the future. From the stars we see in the firmament—the malefic stars that overcome or predominate in the configuration—from the aspects and positions of the planets and the fixed stars in the heavens at the time of birth, she deduces the future destiny of man. Fail not to consult the greatest Astrologist on earth. It costs you but a trifle, and you may never again have so favorable an opportunity. WM. E. PELL, } EDITORS. SEATON GALES,

MONDAY, MAY 27, 1867.

PLAIN TRUTHS.

A correspondent of the New York Herald, writing from Montgomery, Ala., in eulogy of Mr. Wilson, and whose letter, from the accuracy of its allusions to his reception at various points, proves that the writer has followed in the Senator's wake, comes to the conclusion that the great Radical apostle's mission has been productive of little substantial benefit to "the party." He adds:

"If the people of the South were simply left to themselves to modify their State constitutions and laws in accordance with the Military Reconstruction bill, the appearance of things is that they would do so, and that all the conditions for re-admission into the Union would be complied with. The formation and growth of political parties might safely be left to the States themselves, and although republicanism might be a party of slow growth, still it would have its fair chance of taking root and growing. But the time is past when a new religion, or a new party, can be forcibly implanted in any community."

This is a very sensible view of the case, which we would heartily commend to the attention of those principally interested in sending out these political emissaries.—We tell them, in all candor, that the "evangelizing" process has proven an utter failure. So far from having made proselytes, they have more decidedly consolidated the opposition to their party organization. This is emphatically the fact with regard to the white portion of the population, and we do not believe that the blacks, as a general rule, have been favorably impressed with the specimens that have been imported.—But suppose that they had succeeded in arraying the colored vote in solid phalanx on their side, would they not thereby have necessitated a similar combination of the whites against them; and that the white will continue to be, as it has been, the dominant class in the South, and the country, is as certain as that physical and intellectual distinctions exist between the two races.

If the Radical peripatetics that are going the rounds in the South have calculated to win the support of any portion of the white population, not that way inclined from natural instinct, or malice, or similar reasons to their banners, they have pursued a most silly and fatuitous course in order to effect such a result. Look at it: Here is a people required to do a certain thing by those having the power to command it, and savage penalties are threatened for non-obedience. That people, thus situated, evince, with barely an individual exception, a disposition to submit to the terms imposed, with the best grace possible under the circumstances. There is no apparent alternative but ruin, and that alternative they are doing everything in their power to avoid. In this emergency, they propose to themselves no party affiliations,—they have had enough of them,—and it is their greatest desire to ignore party and to address themselves to the imperative duty before them and the recuperation of their wasted fortunes.—Prostrate and depressed,—smarting under a profound sense of injustice, while acquiescing in it as inexorable,—hedged in with bayonets to make their situation one of keener humiliation—they are invaded by a set of political propagandists, who bector, bully and denounce them, dare opposition, defy even the poor privilege of resistance of opinion, and seek to excite divisions and enmity among those who are bound together by all the ties of interest and association. And all for what? Their "threatenings and slaughter" are breathed out not against those who refuse to comply with the prescribed conditions of reconstruction, (for they admit that no such indisposition exists,) but against those who may decline to put on the harness of a party—a party which has nothing to commend it to confidence or support at the hands of our people, but every way the reverse! What simpletons or madmen to expect to make convicts by such a course!

No creed can be "forcibly implanted"—least of all such a creed, in such a way, by such representatives. No one challenges the bare right of these men to come among us and say what they please. This is a land of free speech,—on one side of the question, at least. But common sagacity, decency and propriety revolt at such proceedings. Sagacity forbids, because, if these men were not the most blinded of politicians, they must see that they are intensifying opposition, where they would extort favor; decency and propriety protest, because, in all ages and all lands, it has been deemed cowardly and mean to add insult to injury and to trample upon a disarmed and powerless former antagonist.

FALSEHOOD.—It is asserted that the Sentinel opposes reconstruction—that it opposes the lead of men recognised by the Congress as fit men to lead. We deny it. We have said just the contrary. We have said that we will not only not oppose, but we will cooperate in, carrying out the re-construction platform of Congress—nothing more, nothing less. We have said, that we acknowledge the right and the propriety of men leading in the work who are recognised by Congress. Congress does not recognise the right of disfranchised men to do so, and we have taken the same grounds.

THE NEW ORLEANS Crescent says that it is not unusual, as registration is conducted in that city, to hear the question put to a colored applicant for registry, "Do you intend to vote for those white fellows or for a black man?" at the same time that white citizens are turned away for having been Confederate soldiers!

WHICH IS RIGHT?

However unintelligible the ordinary literature or the local nomenclature of a people may be, the laws for the government of a people ought to be clear, comprehensible and capable of being observed by all. No room should be left for mistake, evasion or doubt. In this regard the United States Congress has been singularly unfortunate in framing its laws with special reference to the Southern States. With respect to the meaning of the Sherman-Shellabarger bill, a school boy would say, that it is a law compelling reconstruction on the part of the Southern people on certain conditions, and obliging Congress to admit the Southern representatives at once upon the compliance with the terms laid down. He would say it is a finality. The same opinion would be formed by ninety-nine hundredths of the people, if the Congress had not made the impression deep on the public mind, that it does not mean what it says—that even in its law, it talks for Buncombe.

Mr. Wilson recently expressed the opinion that strict compliance with the terms of the law by the Southern States, would admit them to Congress. Mr. Reverdy Johnson, Mr. Fessenden, Mr. Sherman and others had previously said so. Mr. Colfax has taken the same grounds. Mr. Bingham, in a recent letter to some colored people of Lynchburg, Va., says:

"Rely upon it, that the acceptance by the whole people of the late insurrectionary States of the constitutional amendment in the spirit in which it has been accepted by the whole people of the North, and the reorganization of their local governments in accordance with the reconstruction act, will not only restore those States in the Union, but will secure, in all time hereafter, equal and exact justice to all men in every State and territory of the Republic, destined henceforth and forever to be the refuge of liberty and the sanctuary of justice."

Yet Mr. Stevens, Judge Kelley, and others of the Wendell Phillips school, deny that it is a finality. It is, therefore, not within the reach of mortal comprehension to tell what Radicals mean by what they say—to know what is their ultimation, or what they will stop at to ruin the Southern people. Can such people hope to unite the South to such a party? Can they expect our people, black or white, to confide in such a party? With moderate Republicans the case is different, and they could be relied upon, if they would take a position and remain at it. They mean what they say, while they are saying it, but how long they will say the same thing, is exceedingly dubious. If that is what is meant by a party of progress, we pray the Good Lord to deliver us from it.

THE COTTON CROP.

It is very evident that the cotton buyers in our great markets are laboring under a serious mistake, in regard to the prospects of the cotton crop of 1867. We do not recollect a more difficult and discouraging season for cotton since 1834, when the crop was plowed up twice in this State, before a stand could be obtained. We learn that many of our planters in the cotton region have already plowed up the first planting. The second planting has met with serious hindrances. We have not had two consecutive days of good growing weather for cotton, during the month or May. The rains have been frequent and have invariably turned off very cool. We learn that not only cotton, but corn, is dying in the fields on our level lands. The planters now begin, very generally, to count on not more than half a crop. Subsequent favorable weather may change the complexion somewhat, but the indications already are sufficient to moderate the extravagant calculations made at the North and in Europe, in regard to a large cotton crop.

FREE SPEECH,—as illustrated by Judge Kelly: An audience of men called together to hear a speaker; distinctly informed that they shall not dissent from him; taunted with every insult which studious malice could invent for their exasperation, and then contemptuously dared to resent it; and the principle openly proclaimed that only one idea shall be promulgated at the risk of every peril!

"There is one thing that will encircle the brow of Gov. Brownlow, of Tennessee, for all ages, like a wreath of glory, and it is this, that under his auspices the State of Tennessee was restored to the Union and the colored people voluntarily enfranchised."—Standard, 25th.

Tolerably cool, this, for a man who declared, a little over a year ago, that "unqualified opposition to negro suffrage" was one of the most conspicuous of "Union landmaks!"

A NUMBER of prominent Louisianians, of all parties, are in Washington, seeking Sheridan's removal and asking that Gen. Meade be sent in his place.

RETURN OF SENATOR WILSON.—Hon. Henry Wilson returned to this city yesterday, having completed his proselyting tour in the Southern States. He expresses gratification, as we understand, at the kindess and courtesy with which he was treated wherever he went among the ostracised people of the South. He testifies to the entire freedom of speech that is there allowed to the Northern Radical speakers, by stating that although, in all the cities he visited, before mixed audiences of whites and blacks, and sometimes under circumstances tending to produce excitement, he enunciated his political opinions and advocated the doctrines of his party freely, boldly, and without reserve or modification, he was never, at any time, subjected to offensive interruption of any description. The testimony is a conclusive refutation of the assertions of rabid Radical organs, that freedom of speech is not tolerated by the white men of those exiled and revolutionized communities.—Nat. Intelligencer.

General Pope issued an order through General Swayne forbidding the police force of Mobile wearing a uniform in imitation of that worn "by the late Rebel Army." On Friday last the City Council passed the following resolution on the subject: "That a committee of two members from each Board to which his Honor the Mayor shall be added, be appointed to represent that the uniform in question is not "patterned after a Rebel uniform," but is a copy of the uniform of the Central Park police of the city of New York."

DEEP RIVER COAL REGION—LETTER FROM THE STATE GEOLOGIST.

To HIS EXCELLENCY, JONATHAN WORTH, GOVERNOR OF NORTH CAROLINA:

SIR:—Inasmuch as every thing relating to the condition and resources of our State has an immediate interest and value, I have thought it worth while to submit to you, and, if you think fit, to the public, some observations suggested by a week's tour in the Deep River coal region, from which I have just returned.

As the general geological features and mineralogical characteristics of that section are well known, I shall confine myself mainly to a few points less familiar to the public.

Of coure one sees here the same stagnation of business and suspension of work which are observable every where;—no coal raising, no iron making, furnaces out of blast, pits full of water or fallen in, machinery and buildings falling into decay and ruin. The spasmodic activity and energy which the last years of the war witnessed all vanished; the extensive works planned and in large part executed at the Gulf, at Egypt, at Endor and at Ore Hill abandoned; furnaces, foundries, rolling mills all silent; the dams and locks of Deep River, many of them broken, undermined and washing away, and all useless and unused; the Chatham R. R. lying unfinished, its cross ties rotting before they are laid down;—these things present a picture which suggests anything but pleasant meditations, and press the inquiry, why so much waste, stagnation and decay?

It would perhaps be less profitable to discuss this question than to state some reasons why these things should not be so.

That coal of good quality and in large quantity exists here, there can remain no doubt. That iron of good quality, and in any abundance, can be produced here, is not only evident from the character and quantity of the ore of Buckhorn, Ore Hill and elsewhere, but has been demonstrated practically by the operations at Ore Hill, Endor and other points.

A large body of bituminous shales is associated with the coal, which yields a heavy percentage of Kerosene Oil.

The water power furnished by the works of the Deep River Navigation Company is practically unlimited. And the forests will furnish material for charcoal indefinitely.—These are mere re-statements of facts well known. The only condition wanting to the successful establishment of manufactures is facility of transportation,—ready access to market. And there is an outlet to the seaboard at Wilmington already open, by railroad to Fayetteville and thence by the Cape Fear. Ten or fifteen thousand dollars will put the navigation of Deep River above Buckhorn Falls in fair condition, so as to re-establish completely the communication between the ore banks and coal pits and furnaces. And the Chatham railroad which, furnishes connection with Raleigh and the whole middle and western portion of the State, is graded to Deep River, (with the exception of one or two miles) and the cross ties delivered for half the distance.—These facts certainly justify the conclusion that it would require very little enterprise or capital to change the whole aspect of this business, and to inaugurate for North Carolina that career of manufacturing activity and prosperity to which reason and her abounding natural resources have long invited, and interest and necessity now irresistibly impel her.

But besides and beyond these so well known facts, there are still other points which give an additional interest to this section.

It may be taken for granted that so far as North Carolina is to remain an agricultural State, our agriculture is to proceed upon an entirely new system. We must adopt what is called the system of "high farming." We cannot afford to expend annually upon land whose yearly cost is 25 or 30 cents per acre, labor worth 5 or 6 dollars, for a yield of grain worth 7 to 10 dollars, the soil itself losing 10 to 25 per cent. of its value with each crop removed. We shall calculate better, now that we are obliged to know what labor costs. A very simple calculation, of which the rudest farmer among us is capable, will show that by making our land worth 2 to 3 dollars per acre yearly, and expending 5 or 6 more in fertilizers, the same labor will yield ten times as much;—instead of a profit of nothing, or 2 or 3 dollars per acre, we shall have 25 to 30 dollars. There is a very gratifying evidence of a prevalent disposition to adopt at once a new system of tillage, in the fact that there has been a larger importation and more general use of concentrated manures in the State since the close of the war, (probably indeed, within the last 12 months) than in all previous years together. But it will soon be found imprudent and unsafe to rely entirely, or even mainly, upon foreign sources of supply, and that we must produce within our own bounds the bulk of the manures necessary to the permanent improvement of our soils. Guanos and superphosphates will not suffice. These, alone, will be found to be largely stimulative, and therefore exhaustive. It has been abundantly demonstrated that "the farmer, by aiding the agencies which improve the chemical and physical condition of his land, can obtain much more abundant crops than by supplying nutritive matters." The two most efficient agencies for these purposes are drainage and lime.

The action of lime is complex and manifold. This is not the place to discuss that subject. But it is not easy to over-estimate its importance. And since, in the quantities in which it is required, it cannot be transported to great distances, we must depend, for the supply of it, upon the stores which nature has laid up within our borders. The sea-bound counties are generally well supplied with marl. From the Catawba river Westward, there are frequent beds of limestone. In the intermediate region, nearly 200 miles in extent, East and West, the absence of lime is a serious drawback to all farming operations. It is a matter of some interest, therefore, to find that in the sandstone formation of Chatham there is a bed of marl, or calcareous shell, of considerable horizontal extent and vertical thickness, overlying the coal, and cropping out along the banks of Deep river, so as to be easily distributable over a considerable belt of country. What is the percentage of lime in this marl, and whether it contains also magnesia, are questions which merit an early investigation. In this connection, it is perhaps worth while to mention that there are three beds of marl in Wake County,—two in the lower and one in the upper part of it,—the latter of which, at least, is of sufficient extent to be a matter of importance. It lies near the surface, cropping out in the ravines and gullies, along the line of the N. C. R. R., from near Morrisville to a point above Brassfields. It is a calcareous slate and sandstone, of two to four feet in thickness, containing in some of its strata thirty to fifty per cent. of lime, and having one and sometimes two layers of concretionary nodules of comparatively pure limestone, which by burning gives a good quick-lime for cement. The extent of this bed North and South is not less than three miles, and may be much more.

But to return to the Deep river region: There is another bed of shales immediately over-lying the coal (and which are also themselves highly carbonaceous,) that are likely to prove more valuable than the marl, on account of the presence of a great quantity of coprolitic deposits, which yield a large percentage of phosphates. This is already used to some extent by a few farmers, as a substitute for manipulated guanos and bone phosphates, after being simply pulverized. But there is no doubt that by very simple mechanical means the phosphates may be concentrated, and a large proportion of the shaly matter eliminated, so as to furnish a basis for a valuable manipulated fertilizer. This has seemed to me a matter of sufficient promise to justify further investigation, and I have accordingly placed a sample in the hands of the chemist for analysis.

Another source of revenue to this region, for some years past, and which will increase largely with improved means of transportation to market, is the so-called soapstone (ascertained by Dr. Emmons to be agalmatolite.)

The owners of the principal quarry near Hancock's Mills are now filling a contract with a single firm North, for 6,000 barrels, and still larger orders are waiting. The bed of this rock, which is a slate, extends across two or three counties, and will, no doubt, be found in sufficient purity at other points also, to be manufactured into a marketable article. Its uses are various and the demand large and increasing, both North and in Europe. There is a bed of this material of much greater extent, in the extreme Western section of the State, which will one day become important.—The rock, which is very soft, is ground in a flouring mill, and bolted through the finest cloths and shipped in barrels of 300 pounds weight.

But the most important mineralogical fact relating to this section (next to the coal) remains to be stated. There are unmistakable evidences of the presence of both copper and gold. The primitive slates underlying the sandstone formation, and bordering it on the North and West, are a continuation of the metal-bearing series of Montgomery and Union counties, and undoubtedly preserve their character as such through Moore and Chatham, (and probably further.) Little search has been made here for these minerals, probably on account of the presence of coal having monopolized the attention of explorers. A single copper mine has been known, for some years, a few miles Southwest from Lockville; but it has not received the attention which its importance merits, not only on account of the quality of the ore, (which is identical with that of the Gardner mine,) but on account of the intimation which it gives of the existence of other similar veins along the same mineralogical meridian, in the continuation of this series of slates in their Northeastern trend; since such mines are not found single and isolated, but in groups and zones. And in fact there are several large and well defined veins of copper and gold, showing a good quality of ore in the very outcrop, over a breadth of 25 or 30 miles from Ore Hill to Lockville. There are evident, through this tract, even to the casual observer, all the characteristics of a mineral region; and I make no doubt that a careful survey and detailed examination will add another large area to the so-called mineral region of the State.

I am indebted for many important facts in this connection to Mr. Robert Paton, to whose courtesy it is due, that I was able, in a few days, to see so much of this interesting region, and especially to see so many localities which furnish evidence of the facts, and the verification of conclusions, above stated.

Very respectfully,
Your obedient servant,
W. C. KERR.

Raleigh, May 22, 1867.

DISTILLATION OF GRAIN.

HEADQUARTERS,
SECOND MILITARY DISTRICT,
CHARLESTON, S. C., May 20th, 1867.
[General Orders No. 25.]

It appears from sundry petitions and official representations that the present scanty supply of food in the Carolinas is seriously diminished by the large quantity of grain consumed in numerous distilleries, put up and worked in defiance of the revenue laws of the United States; it is represented that few or none of the requirements of law are observed in any of these establishments; that the officers of the internal revenue service, while endeavoring to assess and collect the whiskey tax, are frequently treated with disrespect and sometimes menaced with violence; and that when offenders are prosecuted in the civil courts and violations of the internal revenue laws indisputably proven, juries fail to convict the parties; it is further shown that this unlawful traffic makes food dearer in places where large numbers are depending upon public and private bounty; that the government is, besides, defrauded of a large amount of revenue; that the authority of its civil officers is brought into contempt; and furthermore, that the mischief complained of tends to increase poverty, disorder and crime; therefore, in the exercise of the authority vested in the Commanding General, it is ordered that:

I. The distillation or manufacture of whiskey or other spirits from grain is prohibited in this Military District. Any person so engaged or employed will be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor. The possession of a still or other apparatus for this purpose will be considered presumptive evidence of a violation of the revenue laws, and the party or parties using the same, or on whose premises, or in whose possession, the same may be found, will be arrested and brought to trial before a military tribunal, composed of the Commanding Officer of the Post, and two officers of the army next in rank on duty within the territorial limits of the Post. If the exigencies of the service do not permit the detail of other officers, that fact will be duly certified and the Post Commander will hear and determine the case.

II. The penalties, punishments and forfeitures prescribed by the several acts of Congress for distilling or manufacturing whiskey or other spirits in violation of the revenue laws will be imposed and executed by the military tribunals hereby authorized.

III. No sentence extending to imprisonment, forfeiture of stills, liquor or other property, or the imposition of a fine or other penalty, will be carried into effect until reported to these Headquarters and approved by the Commanding General.

IV. All troops of the United States, Magistrates, Sheriffs, Constables, Police and others in authority are required, and all citizens and soldiers, to be vigilant in detecting and prompt in giving information of the violation of these orders. Commanding Officers will be held responsible for their enforcement.

By Command of Major General D. E. SICKLES:

J. W. CLOUS, Capt. 38th Infy.
A. D. C. & A. A. A. G.

Official: ALEXANDER MOORE, Capt. 38th Infantry, Aide-de-Camp.

Harry P. Taylor, an express clerk in Louisville, bid good bye to his friends on Sunday last, ordered a dinner at a restaurant, telling the waiter that it should be the last one he would eat, invited a negro boy to attend his funeral on Tuesday, and then retired to his room and killed himself with a pistol. No cause beyond previous indulgence in drink is assigned for the deed.

ROCKBRIDGE ALUM SPRINGS.

OPEN JUNE 1.

This favorite and delightful watering-place, having undergone thorough renovation, is prepared to receive visitors. The owners have made every effort in the outfit and equipment to render the place more than ever attractive to those in quest of recreation, while to the invalid its medicinal waters hold out new hopes of health. It may be confidently claimed for them that they have in a great many cases relieved, and in many more cases cured, the following diseases: SCROFULA, and many chronic CUTANEOUS diseases; CHRONIC THRUSH, BRONCHITIS, DYSPEPSIA, CHRONIC DIARRHŒA, DROPSY, AFFECTIONS of KIDNEY and BLADDER, and PILES; and, in connection with the Hot Baths, CHRONIC RHEUMATISM.

As an appetizer, a tonic, and general restorative to an enfeebled constitution, it is perhaps unrivalled amongst mineral waters. The proprietors have engaged for the approaching season both for the LAWN and the BALL-ROOM.

A VERY SUPERIOR BAND OF MUSIC,

THE BILLIARD AND BOWLING SALOONS, both for ladies and gentlemen, will be found in more complete order than ever before.

From the very extensive preparations now making at all the leading Virginia Springs, a heavy travel is anticipated, and, we think, will be attracted. It shall be the aim of the undersigned to keep their establishment FULLY UP TO THE FOREMOST; and they hope to see a renewal of the social re-unions which in former years lent such a charm to these mountain retreats.

Passengers by the Virginia Central railroad get off the cars at GOSHEN Depot, Eight (8) miles of staging over a smooth road lands them at the Springs.

BOARD, $3.50 PER DAY; $80 PER MONTH.

We have secured the efficient services of Captain WILLIAM H. SALE, so long and favorably known to the public, in connection with these Springs.

GRAND CHARITABLE

PRESENTATION CONCERT.

—IN AID OF THE—

SOUTHERN ORPHAN ASSOCIATION.

(Incorporated by the Legislature of Virginia, January 30, 1867.)

TO BE GIVEN AT THE

MARYLAND INSTITUTE,

BALTIMORE,

JUNE 17th. 1867.

THE PROFITS OF THIS CONCERT WILL BE GIVEN TO THE SOUTHERN ORPHANS ASSOCIATION, TO THESE UNJOINED ADDRESS FROM THE OFFICERS OF WHICH, WE CALL THE ATTENTION OF THE PUBLIC.

The officers of the Southern Orphans' Association, for the maintenance and education of the destitute orphans of deceased Southern soldiers and sailors, earnestly solicit the sympathy and co-operation in our

GRAND PRESENTATION CONCERT

OF ALL WHO DESIRE TO SEE THE

"HOME AND SCHOOL"

Enabled to receive and care for all the needy ones who seek its shelter and protection.

It is the design of this Association to erect a for the Orphans of the South, both male and female, on an extensive scale, in the city of Richmond, Va. As an inducement to have the building located there, the Common Council of that city have guaranteed a sufficient lot of land, in an elevated and healthful location, and will increase the quantity of land if needed.

It is with a confident hope in a favorable response to this appeal to a public which has never yet failed to sustain a charitable institution, that we have entered into an arrangement with Messrs. L. T. Palmer & Co., No. 13 Holliday street, Baltimore, to organize a Grand Musical Presentation Concert for its benefit, and earnestly solicit the kindly aid and patronage of the public to ensure its success.

It may seem unnecessary to add a single word to the above address, but calls upon the Institution have been so numerous and pressing, and the struggle through which it is now passing to widen the circle of its charities, is of such an arduous nature that the management cannot too strongly urge upon the everywhere an active participation in this additional attempt to alleviate the sad condition of great numbers of helpless children, rendered thus by the terrible war through which we have passed. And, assuredly, whatever may have been the relative political views of ladies and gentlemen heretofore, all must agree that the children referred to could not, by any possibility, have had any agency in bringing about their present and are suitable objects for the charity of all persons of whatever shade of political opinion. The

DEPLORABLE AND DESTITUTE CONDITION

"HOME AND SCHOOL"

which they now more particularly seek to establish and endow, will be of incalculable benefit by providing not only food and raiment for these helpless ones, but likewise solid and thorough education, thus qualifying them for

FUTURE USEFULNESS

TO SOCIETY AT LARGE.

In order that this appeal may be effectual in enlisting the active interest and co-operation of all classes of persons everywhere, we have concluded to issue for the GRAND

PRESENTATION MUSICAL CONCERT

MONDAY, MAY 27, 1867.

LOCAL DEPARTMENT.

TO ADVERTISERS.—The public will find the Sentinel one of the best mediums of advertising in the State. Its circulation covers a larger area, perhaps, than any other paper.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.—Jordan & Carr, Wholesale and Retail Druggists, Petersburg, make an important announcement to Tobacconists.

Mitchell, Allen & Co., Newbern, have constantly on hand the most improved agricultural implements, &c.

The President of the State Medical Board of Examiners announces the list of physicians licensed, at its last meeting, to practice medicine in the State.

THE CONCERT and Exhibition given by the Teachers and Scholars of the Methodist Sunday School, at the Church of that denomination, on Friday night, was one of the most gratifying entertainments ever witnessed in this City and gave great delight to a large audience. The musical part of the exercises developed a pleasing proficiency, and the other features a conception of character at once rare and remarkable,—reflecting great credit not only upon the scholars themselves, but upon their indefatigable and efficient instructors. It would be invidious to discriminate by name, when all did their parts so happily; but the recitations entitled "Origin of the Seasons" and the "Demons of the Glass" were rendered with peculiar impressiveness and eclat.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Young, under whose superintendence the entertainment was principally gotten up, are entitled to thanks for a charming evening to both young and old folks.

THE PRESIDENT.—The municipal authorities have engaged a suite of rooms at "the Yarborough" for the President and his party. Blair will do the thing up "brown."

ANOTHER GENEROUS OFFER.—Col. Wm. Bingham, of the "Bingham School," in Alamance, offers to give free tuition to the disabled young ex-soldier, whose letter appeared in our columns a few days since.—He will give the same to any disabled soldier who desires an education, who is of good moral character and fair ability, and who can pay only for the raw material of his rations. This is a most commendable liberality.

MR. HORNER'S SCHOOL.—We acknowledge the receipt of a catalogue of "The Oxford Classical and Mathematical School," for the scholastic year 1866-7. James H. Horner is Principal; A. J. Redd and W. R. Webb, Assistants, and Edward Cantwell, Lecturer on History and Rhetoric. The college is in a most flourishing condition—there having been 130 students present during the year. Among the number, we notice the names of the following youths from this city, viz: John C. Askew, William P. Batchelor, Charles Root, John Cheatham and Charles Hinton.

DEEP RIVER.—We are sure that we need hardly commend to the perusal of our readers the interesting communication from the State Geologist in another column.—We trust that Prof. Kerr's expose of the capabilities of the Deep River country will direct the public attention afresh to that quarter. He gives a discouraging account of the evidences of dilapidation and prostration that abound there, but a little capital and enterprise would soon remedy all this and give the world the mineral products of that great region.

There are only two hundred and fifty-five lawyers in Memphis.—Exchange.

North Carolina has furnished three of the number, viz: Hon. R. R. Heath, Col. D. K. McRae, and A. M. Lewis, Esq. We are pleased to learn that all of them are doing well.

BANKRUPT ACT.—We are indebted to the publishers, Jno. E. Potter & Co., Philadelphia, for a pamphlet of 80 pages, entitled "A Key to the Bankrupt Act." It embraces the Act itself, printed from the official copy, annotated, digested and indexed for the easy and convenient reference of the legal profession and of business men,—by G. Morgan Etheridge, of the Philadelphia Bar. It is for sale by Branson, Farrar & Co., of this city.

Under Griffin's late order in Texas, it is found that many of the freedmen are disqualified to sit as jurors. One clause of the oath prescribed is that no aid was ever given to the rebellion—few of them can say that. One was rejected because he had on one occasion given fifty cents.

The grave of Calhoun is in a dilapidated condition, the slab of marble over his remains bearing the simple name "Calhoun," with no other word or sign.

STATE ITEMS.

——The Baptist State Convention is in session in Wilmington,—Rev. James McDaniel presiding. Elders W. M. Young, A. Paul Repiton and T. B. Kingsbury are Vice-Presidents; Elder J. D. Husband, Recording Secretary; T. M. Hughes, Assistant; J. S. Purefoy, Treasurer, and W. T. Walters, Auditor.

A prolonged and very interesting discussion upon the work of missions and the general promotion of the interests of the Church took place on Thursday. The Journal says:

"The remarks of the Rev. Mr. Jordan, formerly Pastor of the First Baptist Church in this city, and now far advanced in years, are worthy of more than a passing notice.—For one-half hour this venerable and able gentleman held the Convention and those in attendance almost spell-bound by his impressive, soul stirring eloquence. He enlarged upon the subject of State Missions and the promotion of the interest of the Church. He dwelt upon the responsibilities devolving upon the younger Ministers, the work appointed and the broad field spread out before them, and from long experience was enabled to throw out some valuable hints for their guidance. After many years of hard labor in the cause of Christianity, this venerable gentleman confessed himself more fully enabled to observe and feel the mercies of the Heavenly parent, than at any state of his existence. Though impoverished by the war, he acknowledged the mercy of God and thanked Him for the blessings which He had so beneficently bestowed. We do not feel capable of doing these remarks justice; we desire only to testify to their purity, beauty of expression, remarkable eloquence, and the spirit of sincere christianity which they breathed. His hearers were at times affected to tears, and so impressed seemed the whole body that, by one universal consent, the rules were suspended, while one of the Reverend gentlemen present led the Convention in prayer."

——On Tuesday last, a man was being tried before Judge Mitchell, in Washington, for the crime of horse-stealing; the jury had just retired to find their verdict, when an auction bell was heard, announcing the sale of some Bank property; everybody being interested immediately left the court-room, and the prisoner walked out with the crowd, and left for parts unknown.

—— Ex-Governor Vance has been spending some days in Charleston,—the guest of the "Charleston Hotel."

—— Mrs. Downing's beautiful poem, "Memorial Flowers," has been arranged as a song or duet and set to music in New Orleans. The music is by M. Coote, and is dedicated to the memory of "Our Dead Heroes."

VALUE OF SOUTHERN PRODUCTS.—From the monthly report of the Director of the Bureau of Statistics, we learn, says the St. Louis Republican, that the exports from the United States in the first quarter of the present year were about one hundred and thirty-three millions of dollars worth, and that of this amount the Southern States furnished ninety-two millions. This is a surprising record, for it shows that these States contributed 70 per cent of the whole of our exports for the time mentioned. Upon the amount of our exports depend, it must be recollected, the amount of our customs revenues, and in this statement we see the proportion which the industry of these States pays to the revenue. It has been too much the habit at the North to depreciate the value and importance of that industry. While it ought to be fostered—while every means should be taken to develope and increase it—the ultra Radical policy tends directly to its discouragement and annihilation.

THE PROPORTION OF NEGROES TO WHITES IN THE NORTHERN AND WESTERN STATES.—There are in New York, according to the late census, 1 negro to 77 whites; Connecticutt, 1 to 43; New Jersey, 1 to 22; Ohio, 1 to 63; Pennsylvania, 1 to 59; Illinois, 1 to 226; Indiana, 1 to 116; Michigan, 1 to 108; Wisconsin, 1 to 445; Minnesota, 1 to 732; Kansas, 1 to 152; Oregon, 1 to 47; Nebraska, 1 to 340; Nevada, 1 to 151; California, 1 to 43; Maryland, 1 to 3; Delaware, 1 to 4; and in Kentucky 1 to 4.

A collector for the Ladies' Southern Relief Association in the Ninth Ward informs us that while conversing with a lady about the sufferings of the Confederate poor, the lady's little daughter ran out and got a quarter she had deposited somewhere, and, returning, gave it to the lady collector, with the request that she would buy bread with it for some hungry little child in the South. This little girl is named Philly Lee.—Louisville Courier.

A Bill of Rights has been drafted by the Committee on the Declaration of Rights in the Maryland Constitutional Convention, which will probably be adopted, and which declares that negro testimony shall be admissible in the courts in all cases, that no law of attainder for treason or felony ought to be made, and that no extra-ordinary test oath should be required on admission to office.

The Montgomery (Ala.) Advertiser, speaking of business in that city, says:

"Scarcely a business man in the city makes enough to meet his current expenses, and the gradual dismission of valuable clerks, competent accountants, and employees of humbler grades, tells the story of a want of business confidence in our midst far plainer than mere words could speak it."

A QUESTION.—A contemporary asks this pertinent question: "If the negroes had no votes, would Senator Wilson and his troupe of Northern stumpers ever budge one foot South to address them or look after their interests?" It is hardly necessary to answer it.

"TALL OAKS FROM LITTLE ACORNS GROW."—Thirty-eight years ago an Indian woman rode horseback from Los Angelos to Santa Barabs, using a piece of grape vine as a switch. On reaching her destination, she stuck her switch into the ground. It took root, and sixty barrels of wine were made last season from its fruit.—Tallahassee Sentinel.

A REIGN OF TERROR.—A gentleman from Bristol last night, informs us that a company of Brownlow's Melish, numbering 100, of whom about two-thirds are negroes, are now in Bristol, and are carrying things with a high hand. A perfect reign of terror exists in the devoted village, caused by the depredation of these lawless hordes.—Lynchburg News.

A "tin" wedding was observed after an unusual manner in Vermont the other day. The wife eloped with a young fellow, taking with her all the "tin" her husband had saved in ten years. The discovery of her absence of course closed the festival.

Gov. Morton, in a recent speech, expressed the opinion that the banding of the negroes together in a political party would result in a war of races. Yet Gov. Morton and the Radical party are doing their utmost to band the negroes of the South together in a political party.

TELEGRAPHIC.

THE RECONSTRUCTION ACT.—THE ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OPINION.

After our forms are ready for press, the telegraph furnishes us the opinion of the Attorney General of the United States on the Reconstruction Acts of Congress. It is a most elaborate, and, we suppose, exhaustive document, but of inordinate length. It will probably fill seven columns of the Sentinel, and will appear, in extenso, in our issue of to-morrow morning. The transmission of such a voluminous paper by telegraph is a great feat, and the apparent correctness of shape in which it comes to us is creditable to the skill of the operators at the office in this City.

Of course, we have, as yet, only been able to throw a cursory glance over portions of this document, and therefore will not attempt to pronounce an opinion respecting it or to make even a decided abstract.

We may say, however, that the following appear to be salient points:

1. Persons, in order to registration, must be citizens of the United States and of the State.

2. They must be 21 years of age at the date of applying for registration.

3. Militia and municipal officers before the war, who engaged in rebellion, are not disfranchised.

4. The terms "Judicial, Legislative and Executive" officers, who are disqualified, certainly embrace the higher order of such officers, who were such before the war, as, for instance, under the head of Judicial, Judges; under the head of Legislative, members, but not subordinates; under the head of Executive, Governor, Treasurer, Auditor, Secretary, &c.

5. Besides these there are a large number of officers, whose status is in some way to be defined —"such as Sheriffs, Justices of County Courts," &c., who have jurisdiction over but a County, and yet others whose jurisdiction is restricted to the smallest civil sub-divisions. The Attorney General has ordered abstracts to be prepared for each of the States, showing the character, &c., of these officers, and he reserves until then an opinion as to which are, and which are not, disfranchised.

6. Engaging in the rebellion means a direct, overt act,—not common acts of humanity or charity. Subscriptions to Confederate loans, and voluntary contributions in aid of the government, however, will disqualify, when the party had previously taken the oath, in any of the prescribed official capacities, to support the Constitution of the United States.

7. So, too, the performance of official duties during the war, not incident to the war, but in preservation of order and the administration of justice, was not "engaging in the rebellion."

But we will essay no further analysis, upon so superficial a perusal, for fear of misleading any of our readers. The document entire will appear to-morrow, and we shall have frequent occasion, doubtless, to comment upon it.

FROM CHARLESTON.

CHARLESTON, May 26.

Gen. Sickles, this evening, issued an order in the case of the Negroes concerned in the recent street Car riots.

In view of the general good conduct of the colored population in trusting to the action of the authorities for the recognition and enforcement of their rights and privileges, all are released except Wm. Enger and Jno. F. Stewart, who, being charged with storming the cars, resisting the police in the discharge of their duties, and inciting others to riotous conduct, are remanded for trial by a Military Commission.

In the case of Stephen Calhoun Smith, charged with mutilating the National flag at the firemen's parade on the 27th April, the order says the only extenuating circumstance is the prisoner's acknowledgment of guilt, coupled with the avowal that the act was done in a moment of undue excitement, and the expression of sincere contrition for the offence. Prominent and influential citizens having petitioned for Smith's pardon, representing that his offence receives no countenance in the community, and it appearing that the confinement already undergone by the accused, added to the condemnation of the community, will sufficiently admonish him of the consequences of his misconduct, it is ordered that he be discharged.

KNOW THY DESTINY.

MADAME E. F. THORNTON, the great English Astrologist, Clairvoyant and Psychometrician, who has astonished the scientific classes of the Old World, has now located herself at Hudson, N. Y. Madame Thornton possesses such wonderful powers of second sight, as to enable her to impart knowledge of the greatest importance to the single or married of either sex. While in a state of trance, she delineates the very features of the person you are to marry, and by the aid of an instrument of intense power, known as the Psychonotrope, guarantees to produce a life-like picture of the future husband or wife of the applicant, together with date of marriage, position in life, leading traits of character, &c. This is no humbug, as thousands of testimonials can assert. She will send when desired a certified certificate, or written guarantee, that the picture is what it purports to be. By enclosing a small lock of hair and stating place of birth, age, disposition and complexion, and enclosing fifty cents and stamped envelope addressed to yourself, you will receive the picture and desired information by return mail. THE BEAUTY OF OLD AGE.

I often think each tottering form
That limps along in life's decline,
Once bore a heart as young, as warm,
And full of idle thoughts as mine!
And each has had its dream of joy,
Its own unequaled pure romance;
Commencing when the blushing boy
First thrilled at lovely woman's glance.

And each could tell his tale of youth,
Would think its scenes of love evince
More passion, more unearthly truth
Than any tale before or since.
Yes! they could tell of tender lays,
At midnight penned in classic shades,
Of days more bright than modern days—
And maids more fair than modern maids.

Of whispers in a willing ear,
Of kisses on a blushing cheek,
Each kiss, each whisper far too dear
Our modern lips to give or speak.
Of passions too untimely crossed—
Of passions slighted or betrayed—
Of kindred spirits early lost,
And birds that blossomed but to fade.

Of beaming eyes and tresses gray,
Elastic form and noble brow,
And forms that all have passed away,
And left them what we see them now.
And is it thus—is human love
So very light and frail a thing?
And must youth's brightest vision move,
Forever on time's restless wing?

Must all the eyes that still are bright,
And all the lips that talk of bliss,
And all the forms so fair to sight,
Hereafter only come to this?
Then what are all earth's treasures worth,
If we at length must lose them thus—
If all we value most on earth
Ere long must fade away from us?

TAKE HIM OUT.—A scrub-headed boy having been brought before the court as a witness, the following colloquy ensued:

"Where do you live?" said the Judge.

"Live with my mother."

"Where does your mother live?"

"She lives with my father."

"Where in thunder is their home?" roars the Judge.

"That's where I am from," says the boy, sticking his tongue in a corner of his cheek, and slowly closing one eye on the Judge.

"Here, Mr. Constable," says the Court, "take the witness out and tell him to travel; he evidently does not understand the nature of an oath."

"You would think different," says the boy, going toward the doorway, "if I was once to give you a cussin'!"

NOTHING TO HOLD ON BY.—An infidel on his death bed felt himself adrift in the terrible surges of doubt and uncertainty. Some of his friends urged him to hold on to the end. "I have no objection to holding on," was the poor man's answer; "but will you tell me what I am to hold on by?"

There is the fatal want. Infidelity furnishes neither anchor nor rope to the sinking soul. It gives nothing to hold on by.

A gentleman in a New England town buried his sixth wife last week. Shortly after the funeral he met the minister who officiated, and offered him a three dollar greenback. The minister declined to take it, saying he was not accustomed to accept pay for such services. The gentleman coolly replied, "Just as you say; but that's what I've been in the habit of paying."

A GOOD JOKE.—Many years ago, when church organs first came in use, a worthy old clergyman was pastor of a church where they had just purchased an organ. Not far from the church was a large town pasture, where a great many cattle grazed, and among them a large bull. One hot sabbath in the summer, Mr. Bull came up near the church grazing, and just as the Rev. Mr. B—— was in the midst of his sermon—'boo-woo-woo' went the bull.

The parson paused, looked up at the singing seats, and with a grave face said:

"I would thank the musicians not to tune their instruments during service; it annoys me very much."

The people stared, and the minister went on.

"Boo-woo-woo," went the bull again as he drew a little nearer the church.

The parson paused again and addressed the choir:

"I really wish the singers would not tune their instruments while I am preaching."

The congregation tittered, for they knew what the real cause of this disturbance was.

The parson went on again and he had just about started good, when "Boo-woo woo" came from Mr. Bull.

The minister paused once more and exclaimed:

"I have twice requested the musicians in the gallery not to tune their instruments during the sermon. I now particularly request Mr. L—— that he will not tune his double base organ while I am preaching."

This was too much. L—— got up, too much agitated at the idea of speaking out in church, and stammered out:

"It is—isn't me, parson B——, it-it is that d——d town bull."

At one time during the war a large number of officers were stopping at the various hotels in Washington, at the time, perhaps, when seven Brigadiers were hit by the stone that missed the dog at which it was thrown in front of Willard's. At that time one of these terrible youngsters was crying, in front of the National:

"Extra Evening Star, third edition, another great battle!"

An officer, coming out just then, (a captain) the boy accosts him with:

"Colonel, have a Star?"

(They always indulge in a little flattery of breveting, when occasion offers.) The officer buys, and running his eyes over the paper eagerly, calls out:

"Here, boy, I don't see any battle!"

Getting beyond the range of the officer's boots, he replies:

"No, you never will, lounging about these 'ere hotels!"

PRECOCITY.—Old Roger was visiting a friend who had a remarkably fine girl about three years old, famous for smart sayings.—As usual, she was shown off before our esteemed friend:

"What is papa?" asked the parient, in order to draw out the precocious reply.

"Papa's a humbug!" said the juvenile.

The parient looked queer—rather.

This brought out old Roger, who hammered the nail home with one kick, thus:

"Well, I declare, I never in my life saw so young a child with so mature a judgment."

At a church in Scotland two candidates offered to preach, of the names of Adams and Low. The last preached in the morning, and took for his text, "Adam, where art thou?" In the evening Mr. Adams preached, and took for his text, "Lo, I am here!"

"John," asked a physician, "did Mrs. Green get the medicine I ordered?" "I guess so," replied John, "for I saw crape on the door next morning."

"Come, Jim, get up," said an indignant father to his son the other morning, "remember the early bird catches the worm." "What do I care for worms?" replied the young hopeful, "mother won't let me go a fishing."

Congressional Reconstruction Acts.

For the information of our readers we republish as follows the late reconstruction act of Congress, known as the Sherman-Shellabarger bill. We shall add to it the Howard Amendment, Test Oath and the Supplementary act, all of which will be kept standing until the necessary information they contain shall be generally and fully understood.

THE RECONSTRUCTION ACT.

AN ACT to provide for the more efficient government of the rebel States.

[Passed over the President's Veto, March 2d, 1867.]

WHEREAS, no legal State governments or adequate protection for life or property now exists in the rebel States of Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Mississippi, Alabama, Louisiana, Florida, Texas, and Arkansas; and whereas it is necessary that peace and good order should be enforced in said States until loyal and Republican State Governments can be legally established: Therefore,

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That said rebel States shall be divided into military districts and made subject to the military authority of the United States, as hereinafter prescribed, and for that purpose Virginia shall constitute the first district; North Carolina and South Carolina the second district; Georgia, Alabama and Florida the third district; Mississippi and Arkansas the fourth district; and Louisiana and Texas the fifth district.

SEC. 2. And be it further enacted, That it shall be the duty of the President to assign to the command of each of said districts an officer of the army, not below the rank of Brigadier general, and to detail a sufficient military force to enable such officer to perform his duties and enforce his authority within the district to which he is assigned.

SEC. 3. And be it further enacted, That it shall be the duty of each officer assigned as aforesaid to protect all persons in their rights of person and property, to suppress insurrection, disorder and violence, and to punish or cause to be punished all disturbers of the public peace and criminals, and to this end he may allow local civil tribunals to take jurisdiction of and to try offenders, or, when in his judgement it may be necessary for the trial of offenders, he shall have power to organize military commissions or tribunals for that purpose, and all interference, under color of State authority, with the exercise of military authority under this act shall be null and void.

SEC. 4. And be it further enacted, That all persons put under military arrest by virtue of this act shall be tried without unnecessary delay, and no cruel or unusual punishment shall be inflicted; and no sentence of any military commission or tribunal hereby authorized, affecting the life or liberty of any person, shall be executed until it is approved by the officer in command of the district, and the laws and regulations for the government of the army shall not be affected by this act, except in so far as they conflict with its provisions. Provided, That no sentence of death, under the provisions of this act, shall be carried into effect without the approval of the President.

SEC. 5. And be it further enacted, That when the people of any one of said rebel States shall have formed a constitution of government in conformity with the Constitution of the United States in all respects, framed by a convention of delegates elected by the male citizens of said State, twenty one years old and upwards, of whatever race, color or previous condition, who have been resident in said State for one year previous to the day of such election, except such as may be disfranchised for participation in the rebellion, or for felony at common law; and when such constitution shall provide that the elective franchise shall be enjoyed by all such persons as have the qualifications herein stated for electors of delegates; and when such constitution shall be ratified by a majority of the persons voting on the question of ratification, who are qualified as electors for delegates; and when such Constitution shall be ratified by a majority of the persons voting on the question of ratification, who are qualified as electors for delegates; and when such constitution shall have been submitted to Congress for examination and approval, and Congress shall have approved the same; and when the said State, by a vote of its legislature elected under said constitution, shall have adopted the amendment to the constitution of the United States, proposed by the Thirty-ninth Congress, and known as article fourteen; and when said article shall have become a part of the constitution of the United States, said State shall be declared entitled to representation in Congress, and Senators and Representatives shall be admitted therefrom, on their taking the oath prescribed by law; and then and thereafter the preceding sections of this act shall be inoperative in said State. Provided, That no person excluded from the privilege of holding office by said amendment to the constitution of the United States, shall have engaged in insurrection or rebellion against the same, or given aid and comfort to the enemies thereof. But Congress may, by a vote of two-thirds of each House, remove such disability.

SEC. 6. And be it further enacted, That until the people of said rebel States shall be by law admitted to representation in the Congress of the United States, any civil government which may exist therein shall be deemed provisional only, and in all respects subject to the paramount authority of the United States at any time to abolish, modify, control or supersede the same; and in all elections to any office under such provisional governments all persons shall be entitled to vote, and none others, who are entitled to vote under the provisions of the fifth section of this act; and no person shall be eligible to any office under such provisional governments who would be disqualified from holding office under the provisions of the third article of said constitutional amendment.

SCHUYLER COLFAX.
Speaker of the House of Representatives.

LAFAYETTE S. FOSTER,
President of the Senate pro tem.

The following is the Constitutional Amendment referred to in the 4th section of the Sherman Bill:

Proposed Constitutional Amendment.

ARTICLE XIV.

Section 1. All persons born or naturalized in the United States and subject to the jurisdiction thereof are citizens of the United States and of the State wherein they reside. No State shall make or enforce any law which shall abridge the privileges or immunities of citizens of the United States; nor shall any State deprive any person of life, liberty or property without due process of law, nor deny to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws.

Sec. 2. Representatives shall be apportioned among the several States according to their respective numbers, counting the whole number of persons in each State excluding Indians not taxed. But when the right to vote at any election for the choice of electors for President and Vice-President of the United States, representatives in Congress, executive and judicial officers of a State, or the members of the Legislature thereof, is denied to any of the male inhabitants of such State being twenty-one years of age and citizens of the United States, or in any way abridged except for participation in rebellion or other crime, the basis of representation therein shall be reduced in the proportion which the number of such male citizens shall bear to the whole number of male citizens twenty-one years of age in such State.

Sec. 3. No person shall be a Senator or Representative in Congress, or elector of President and Vice-President, or hold any office, civil or military, under the United States or under any State, who, having previously taken an oath as a member of Congress, or as an officer of the United States, or as a member of any State Legislature, or as an executive or judicial officer of any State, to support the Constitution of the United States, shall have engaged in insurrection or rebellion against the same, or given aid and comfort to the enemies thereof. But Congress may, by a vote of two-thirds of each House, remove such disability.

Sec. 4. The validity of the public debt of the United States authorized by law, including debts incurred for payment of pensions and bounties for services in suppressing insurrection or rebellion, shall not be questioned. But neither the United States nor any State shall assume or pay any debt or obligation incurred in aid of insurrection or rebellion against the United States, or any claim for the loss or emancipation of any slave; but all such debts, obligations and claims, shall be held illegal and void.

Sec. 5. The Congress shall have power to enforce by appropriate legislation the provisions of this article.

The following is the oath of office referred to in the 5th section of the bill, and also in the 6th of the Supplementary Bill:

An Act to Prescribe an Oath of Office and for Other Purposes.

Be it enacted, That hereafter any person elected or appointed to any office of honor or profit under the government of the United States, either in the civil, military or naval department of the public service, except the President of the United States, shall before entering upon the duties of such office, and before being entitled to any of the salary or other emolument thereof, take and subscribe the following oath or affirmation: "I, A B, do solemnly swear (or affirm) that I have never voluntarily borne arms against the U. S. since I have been a citizen thereof; that I have voluntarily given no aid, countenance, counsel or encouragement to persons engaged in armed hostility thereto; that I have never sought nor accepted, nor attempted to exercise the functions of any office whatever, under any authority, or pretended authority, in hostility to the United States; that I have not yielded a voluntary support to any pretended government, power or constitution within the United States, hostile or inimical thereto; and I do further swear (or affirm) that to the best of my knowlege and ability, I will support and defend the constitution of the United States against all enemies, foreign and domestic; that I will bear true faith and allegiance to the same; that I take this obligation freely, without any mental reservation or purpose of evasion, and that I will well and faithfully discharge the duties of the office on which I am about to enter. So help me God," which oath, so taken and signed, shall be preserved among the files of the Court, Houses of Congress, or the department to which said officer may appertain. And any person who may falsely take said oath shall be guilty of perjury, and on conviction, in addition to the penalties now prescribed for that offence, shall be deprived of his office, and rendered incapable, forever after, of holding any office or place under the United States.

Approved July 2, 1862.

SUPPLEMENT TO THE STEVENS-SHERMAN-SHELLABARGER BILL.

AN ACT supplemental to an act entitled an act to provide for the more efficient government of the rebel States, passed March 2, 1867, and to facilitate restoration.

Be it enacted, &c., That before the first day of September, 1867, the commanding general in each district defined by the act to provide for the more efficient government of the rebel States, approved March 2, 1867, shall cause a registration to be made of the male citizens of the United States, twenty-one years of age, and upwards, resident in each county or parish in the State or States included in his district, which registration will include only those persons who are qualified to vote for delegates by the act aforesaid, and who shall have taken and subscribed the following oath or affirmation:

"I, ——, do solemnly swear, or affirm, in the presence of Almighty God, that I am a citizen of the State of ——; that I have resided in said State for ——months next preceding this day, and now reside in the county of ——, or the parish of ——, in said State, as the case may be; that I am 21 years old; that I have not been disfranchised for participation in any rebellion or civil war against the United States, nor for felony committed against the laws of any State or of the United States; that I have never been a member of any State Legislature, or held any executive or judicial office in any State, and afterwards engaged in insurrection and rebellion against the United States, and given aid or comfort to the enemies thereof; that I have never taken an oath as a member of Congress of the United States, or as an officer of the United States, or as a member of any State Legislature, or as an executive or judicial officer of any State, to support the Constitution of the United States, and afterwards engaged in insurrection or rebellion against the United States, or given aid or comfort to the enemies thereof; that I will faithfully support the Constitution and obey the laws of the United States, and will, to the best of my ability, encourage others so to do. So help me God."

which oath or affirmation may be administered by any registering officer.

Sec. 2. That after the completion of the registration hereby provided for in any State at such time and place therein as the commanding general shall appoint and direct, of which at least thirty day's public notice shall be given, an election shall be held of delegates to a convention for the purpose of establishing a constitution and civil government for such State loyal to the Union; said convention in each State, except Virginia, to consist of the same number of members as the most numerous branch of the State Legislature of such State in the year 1860, to be apportioned among the several districts, counties, or parishes of such State by the commanding general, giving to each, representation in the ratio of voters registered as aforesaid as nearly as may be. The convention in Virginia shall consist of the same number of members as represented the territory now constituting Virginia in the most numerous branch of the Legislature of said State in the year 1860, to be apportioned as aforesaid.

Sec. 3. That at such election the registered voters of each State shall vote for or against a convention to form a constitution thereof under this act. Those voting in favor of such a convention shall have written or printed on the ballots by which they vote for delegates, as aforesaid, the words "for a convention;" and those voting against such a convention shall have written or printed on such ballots the words "against a convention." The persons appointed to superintend said election, and to make return of the votes given thereat, as herein provided, shall count and make return of the votes given for and against a convention; and the commanding general, to whom the same shall have been returned, shall ascertain and declare the total vote in each State for and against a convention. If a majority of the votes given on that question shall be for a convention, then a convention shall be held, as hereinafter provided; but if a majority of said votes shall be against a convention, then no convention shall be held under this act: Provided, That such convention shall not be held unless a majority of all such registered voters shall have voted on the question of holding such convention.

Sec. 4. That the commanding general of each district shall appoint such loyal officers or persons as may be necessary, not exceeding three in each election district, in any State, to make and complete the registration, superintend the election, and make return to him of the votes, lists of voters and of the persons elected as delegates by a plurality of the votes cast at said election; and upon receiving said returns he shall open the same, ascertain the persons elected as delegates according to the returns of the officers who conducted said election, and make proclamation thereof; and if a majority of the votes given on that question shall be for a convention, the commanding general, within sixty days from the date of election, shall notify the delegates to assemble in convention at a time and place to be mentioned in the notification, and said convention, when organized, shall proceed to frame a Constitution and civil government according to the provisions of this act, and the act to which it is supplementary; and when the same shall have been so framed, said Constitution shall be submitted by the convention for ratification to the persons registered under the provisions of this act, at an election to be conducted by the officers, or persons appointed by the commanding general as hereinbefore provided, and to be held after the expiration of thirty days from the date of notice thereof to be given by said convention, and the returns thereof shall be made to the commanding general of the district.

Sec. 5 That if, according to said returns, the constitution shall be ratified by a majority of the votes of the registered electors qualified as herein specified, cast at said election, at least one-half of all the registered voters voting upon the question of such ratification, the president of the convention shall transmit a copy of the same, duly certified, to the President of the United States, who shall forthwith transmit the same to Congress, if then in session, and if not in session, then immediately upon its next assembling; and if it shall moreover appear to Congress that the election was one at which all the registered and qualified electors in the State had an opportunity to vote freely and without restraint, fear or the influence of fraud, and if Congress shall be satisfied that such constitution meets the approval of a majority of the qualified electors in the State, and if the said constitution shall be declared by Congress to be in conformity with the provisions of the act to which this is supplementary, and the other provisions of said act shall have been complied with, and the said constitution shall be approved by Congress, the State shall be declared entitled to representation, and Senators and Representatives shall be admitted therefrom as herein provided.

Sec. 6. That all elections in the States mentioned in the said "Act to provide for the more efficient government of the rebel States," shall, during the operation of said act, be by ballot; and all officers making the said registration of voters and conducting said elections shall, before entering upon the discharge of their duties, subscribe an oath faithfully to perform the duties of their said office, and the oath prescribed by the act approved July 2, 1862, entitled "An act to prescribe an oath of office:" Provided, That if any person shall knowingly and falsely take and subscribe any oath in this act prescribed, such person so offending, and being thereof duly convicted, shall be subject to the pains, penalties and disabilities which by law are provided for the punishment of the crime of wilful and corrupt perjury.

Sec. 7. That all expenses incurred by the several commanding generals, or by virtue of any orders issued or appointments made by them under or by virtue of this act, shall be paid out of any moneys in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated.

Sec. 8. That the convention for each State shall prescribe the fees, salary, and compensation to be paid to all delegates and other officers, and all agents herein authorized or necessary to carry into effect the purposes of this act, not herein otherwise provided for, and shall provide for the levy and collection of such taxes on the property in such State as may be necessary to pay the same.

Sec. 9. That the word "article" in the sixth section of the act to which this is supplementary shall be construed to mean "section."
